 - Serializing coupons for counterfeit protection & tracking
 - The manufacturing and creative of coupons
 - Making a scannable barcode
- Issuing and redeeming store coupons
 - Issuing store coupons
 - Redeeming store coupons
 - Circular ad coupons
- Reporting on coupons

Market effectiveness of coupons

- From 2017 to 2020, between 88% and 94% of consumers used coupons for shopping.
- Studies show that 60% of consumers are likely to try a new product as the result of a coupon offer.
- 46% of consumers admit they had changed a planned purchase as the result of a coupon offer.
- 8 out of every 10 coupons redeemed are traditional print coupons.

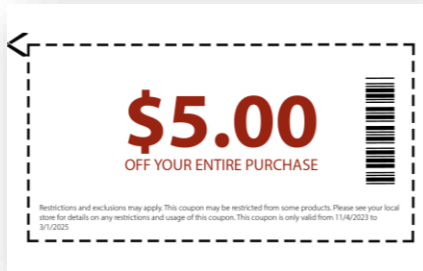

What coupons can do for you

Coupons:

- Drive customers to your business.
- Introduce your store to new shoppers.
- Entice existing customers to make unplanned purchases.
- Coax past customers to return to your business.
- Introduce new products and product lines to your business.
- Increase store/brand awareness.
- Boost a store's profit margin.

Coupon versus promotion

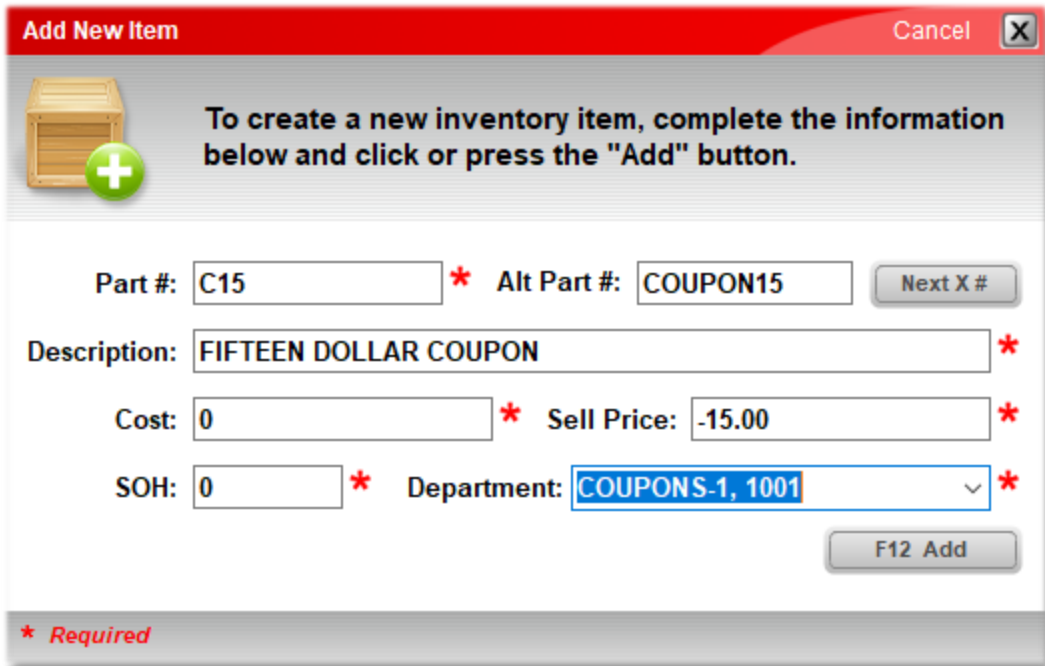

- A coupon is an instant credit that's applied to all items on an invoice by using a dump SKU that contains a negative price value. These coupons are usually issued in-store and redeemed by scanning a barcode at checkout.

- Promotions are activated using a supplier's reward program, a sales list and/or pricing plan and may be applied to a single, few, or many inventory items on an invoice. They may be presented as a BOGO, percentage discount, or a dollar off amount and may be assigned to a single customer, group, or all transactions.

Creating the coupon dump SKU

The screenshot shows a software interface with two tabs: '1 Classes' and '2 Item Information'. The 'Classes' tab is active, showing three dropdown menus for 'Class' and 'Subclass', all set to '0 - None'. The 'Item Information' tab is also visible, showing various fields for item details. A red circle highlights the 'Non-Inventory' checkbox, which is checked. An arrow points to this checkbox from the right.

5. Next, click the General tab, then select the Non-Inventory checkbox.
6. Optionally, you may wish to enter a coupon Class for more refined searching and reporting capabilities.

Serializing coupons for counterfeit protection & tracking

1. Verify that serial number management is activated for your store by making sure the “Enable Serial Number Management” checkbox has been checked under the File→Setup→Company tab in the Inventory section.
2. In the Inventory module, select your coupon dump SKU and go to the General tab, then select the Serial# checkbox.

The screenshot displays the 'Item Information' tab in the University software. The 'Serial#' checkbox is checked, and a red circle highlights it. A red arrow points from this checkbox to the 'Enable Serial Number Management' checkbox in the 'Company' tab, which is also checked. The 'Item Information' tab includes fields for Autotext, Location, Dept, U/M, Weight, C/U Qty, Label, Core Charge, Tax Code, # Bintags, Print Later, Item Tag Required, and Print Sign. The 'Company' tab includes checkboxes for Enable Leading '00' on 14-character Barcodes, Disable Obscure Inventory Notification, Exclude Net items from Invoice-wide Advanced Sales, and Enable Serial Number Management. The 'Image Network Share' field is set to \\charleso2\Images.

The manufacturing and creative of coupons

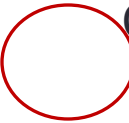

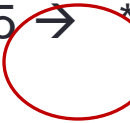

1. Open your favorite word processing program such as Microsoft Word or Google Docs.
2. You may create any size of coupon you wish. Using 3 inches high by 8.5 inches wide makes for easy formatting and cutting on a full sheet of hard-stock paper.
3. Design your creative for the coupon and replicate it three times to fill the page (see diagram on left).

The manufacturing and creative of coupons (cont'd)

4. Cut each coupon using a paper cutter to look uniform and professional.
5. Each coupon should contain the same barcode using the coupon's dump SKU Part Number or Alternate Part Number, i.e., C15 or COUPON15.
6. Below the barcode you will want to display the unique serial number for security and tracking purposes during the checkout process.

Making a scannable barcode

Step 1	Step 2	Step 3
 C15	→  C15	→  C12346

1. When creating your coupons, add the alpha/numeric Part Number or Alternate Part Number of the coupon, such as: C15 or COUPON15, and add it to your creative template.
2. Next, add an asterisk at the beginning and at end of the number.
3. Then highlight the entire number including the asterisks and select a barcode font such as, Code39L or Code 128.

(Note: These fonts are always included with the Paladin program)

Issuing store coupons

Coupons can be issued and distributed to customers for any number of reasons:

1. When purchasing certain products, i.e., Buy a lawn mower and receive a $50 coupon.
2. Customers can buy them and give them as a store gift coupon.
3. Give to customers to incentivize them to return to your store.
4. Conduct a drawing once a week for a free coupon give-away.

Redeeming store coupons

Add Serial Numbers Cancel X

Enter or select 0 serial numbers for part # 'C15'

Enter Serial Number

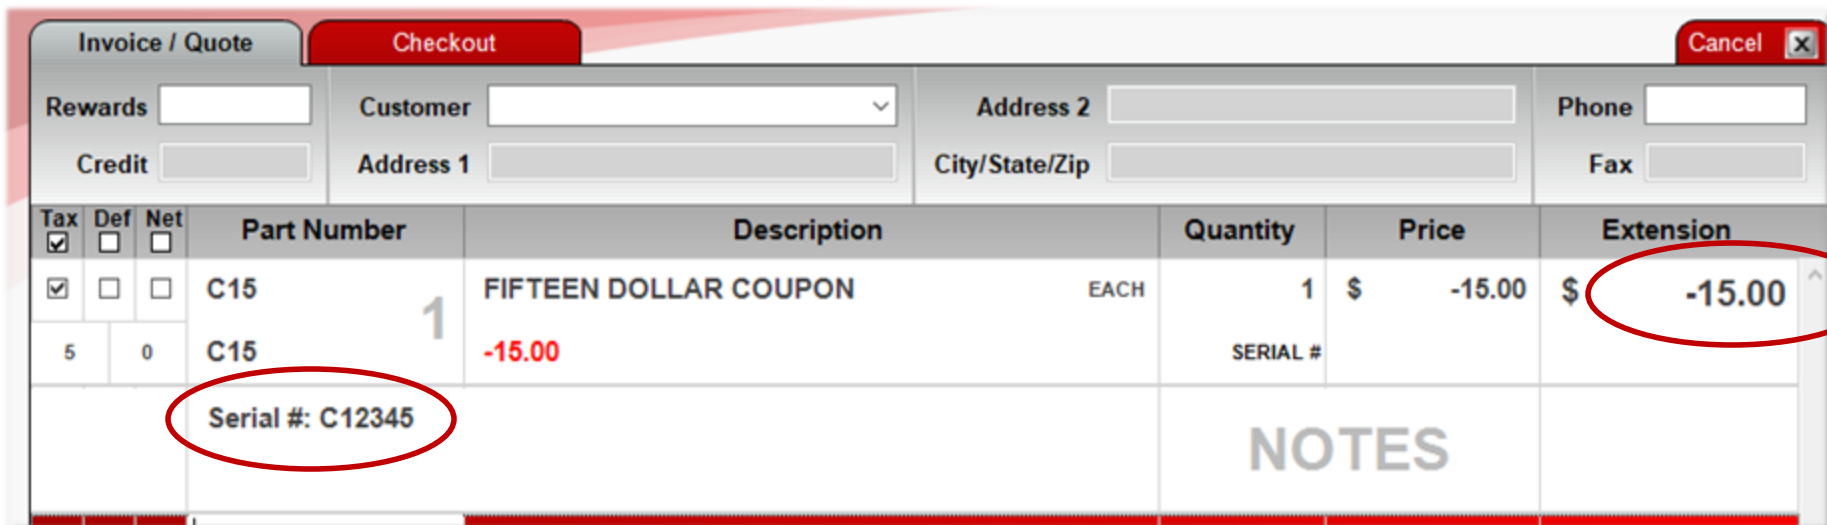

Available Serial Numbers		Selected Serial Numbers
C12346	Select >>>	C12345
C12347	<<< Remove
C12348
C12349

F12 Finish

1. At any time during the checkout process, simply scan the barcode on the coupon and the appropriate discount will be applied to the entire invoice in the form of a credit.
2. The system will prompt you to select a serial number.
3. Select the serial number shown on the coupon.

- The coupon is added as a line item displaying the full credit and the serial number of the coupon.
- The coupon is limited to a one-time use unless the serial number is properly added back to inventory. (See Knowledge Base Article, ID: 32236)

F12 Run Report

- There are a myriad of reports you can run for coupons, for example:
 - Items Sold Report – history sold
 - Transaction Report – detail report
 - Inventory Count List - summary
 - Serial Number List – coupon status
- In most cases you can search by SKU, Serial #, Department, Date Range, and/or Class.
